

Lauren H. Uhlig

Associate

Lauren H. Uhlig focuses her practice on complex civil and criminal litigation. She has represented a variety of corporate and individual clients in federal and state courts, as well as in arbitration proceedings.

Lauren also is an adjunct professor at Georgetown University Law Center, where she teaches Legal Research, Analysis, and Writing.

Before joining Williams & Connolly, Lauren clerked for Judge John D. Bates of the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia. Lauren also worked for the U.S. Department of State in Anticorruption and Government Initiatives and as an associate in the Government Enforcement and White Collar Crime group in the New York office of another leading law firm.

Lauren received a Bachelor of Arts from Cornell University and a Master of Arts from Columbia University. She received her Juris Doctor from Georgetown University Law Center, where she served as Executive Articles Editor for The Georgetown Law Journal and as an editor for the Annual Review of Criminal Procedure. She also served as a Legal Research & Writing Law Fellow, a Global Teaching Fellow, and a Senior Writing Fellow. During law school, she interned for the Office of the Solicitor General and for the Fraud Section of the U.S. Department of Justice, Criminal Division. Lauren graduated cum laude and as a pro bono honoree with highest distinction. She received the best-in-class award in Federal Investigations and Prosecutions.

Representative Experience

Though all cases vary and none is predictive, some of Lauren's representative experience includes:

- Arbitration counsel for a global wealth management firm in a week-long arbitration concerning an employment dispute. The Arbitrator returned a decision in favor of the client on all claims.
- Trial counsel for a publicly traded Hong Kong company in multimillion-dollar convertible bond dispute. The two-week trial resulted in a complete defense victory for the client.
- Trial counsel for a Fortune 500 company in a multimillion-dollar contract dispute with a minority shareholder of a closely held company. The two-week trial resulted in a victory for the client.
- First-chair trial counsel in over a dozen criminal jury and bench trials

luhlig@wc.com

D 202-434-5897

Education

Georgetown University Law Center,
J.D., cum laude, 2012: Executive
Articles Editor, *The Georgetown
Law Journal*; Staff Editor, Annual Review of Criminal Procedure
Columbia University, M.A., 2009
Cornell University, B.A., 2006

Admissions

New York
District of Columbia
United States District Court for the District of Columbia, for the District of Maryland, and for the Eastern District of Michigan
United States District Court for the District of Columbia and Eastern
District of Michigan Bankruptcy
Courts
Supreme Court of the United States

Government Service

Program Assistant, United States
Department of State, Office of Anticrime Programs, Anticorruption
and Governance Initiatives,
Summer 2012

while on secondment with the Maryland Office of the Public Defender.

- Representing a global financial institution in a series of RMBS-related litigations.
- Representing medical care providers and life sciences companies in contract negotiations and litigation.

Intern, United States Department of Justice, Criminal Division, Fraud Section, Spring 2012

Intern, United States Department of Justice, Office of the Solicitor General, Spring 2012

Intern, Judge Vanessa Ruiz, District of Columbia Court of Appeals, Summer 2010