

Intel Plan Fiduciaries Win Summary Judgment in Alternative Investment Suit

April 2017

Finding that the plaintiff had actual knowledge of the facts giving rise to his ERISA claims for alleged breach of fiduciary duty and non-disclosure more than three years before he filed suit, a federal district court granted summary judgment on statute of limitations grounds in favor of Intel Plan Fiduciaries, including members of the Investment Policy and Administrative Committees of the Intel retirement plans. Williams & Connolly represented the defendants in the putative class action suit, which challenged allocations of plan assets to alternative investments such as hedge funds and private equity.

The team representing Intel included John Buckley, Daniel Katz, Vidya Mirmira, David Kurtzer-Ellenbogen, Juli Ann Lund, Ava Baker, Tanya Abrams, and Catherine Wagner.

To view an article published on the decision, click here. Entire contents copyright by Crain Communications Inc. All rights reserved.

Press Contacts

Tanya Abrams

tabrams@wc.com

D 202-434-5344

John Buckley

jbuckley@wc.com

D 202-434-5051

Daniel Katz

dkatz@wc.com

D 202-434-5143

David Kurtzer-Ellenbogen

dkurtzer@wc.com

D 202-434-5676

Juli Lund

jlund@wc.com

D 202-434-5239

Vidya Mirmira

vmirmira@wc.com

D 202-434-5352