

Firm Named “D.C. Litigation Department of the Year, Products Liability” by The National Law Journal

May 2017

The National Law Journal has named Williams & Connolly “2017 D.C. Litigation Department of the Year” for the category of Products Liability. The publication praised the firm’s “innovative approach” to representing clients: “The Products Liability group at Williams & Connolly uses creativity, not size . . . to represent some of the biggest names in pharmaceuticals and medical devices,” including Merck, Medtronic, and Pfizer.

The National Law Journal previously awarded the firm “Washington Litigation Department of the Year” in 2015, “Washington Litigation Department of the Year” for General Litigation in 2014, and “Washington Litigation Department of the Year” for Mass Torts in 2013.

Please click here to read the full article.