January 2021

Bloomberg Law featured analysis from partners Amy Saharia and Sarah Harris in a January 4, 2021 article titled “Justices Trade Blockbusters for ‘Meat and Potatoes’ in 2021.” “There’s something to the idea that they want a less exciting term,” said Sarah. Amy added that the lack of socially contentious cases remaining for 2021 may be partially explained by 2020 having been a presidential election year and that “[t]here’s a risk in granting those kinds of cases in an election year” given the “uncertainty about how quickly a new administration may be able to unwind certain policies.”
