

Law360 Publishes Profile on “Health Group of the Year: Williams & Connolly”

January 2016

On January 11, 2016, Law360 published a profile about Williams & Connolly noting its recent recognition among the publication’s “Health Practice Groups of the Year.” This annual series highlights practice groups whose clients have notched the biggest litigation victories of the year. Winners are recognized for the size, complexity and significance of the litigation matters on which they worked. The profile highlights a number of significant wins by the firm’s clients during 2015, including Omnicare in a prominent FCA suit and pharmacy giant CVS in a Medicare Part D case, which according to the publication was “one of many high profile defense wins that made the firm a False Claims Act heavyweight” and earned the firm a place on their list of six honorees.
