

Tax Planning

Williams & Connolly represents both U.S. and foreign clients in domestic and international tax planning matters. We guide our clients – both entities and individuals – through the many facets of the tax laws, including advice on structuring tax-advantaged corporate reorganizations, acquisitions, restructurings, debt financings, sales, exchanges and other transactions involving "C" and "S" corporations, partnerships, sole proprietorships, joint ventures and LLCs.

The firm also is experienced in representing tax-exempt organizations such as section 501(c)(3) entities and in providing advice regarding charitable giving, private foundations, public charities, social welfare funds, and joint ventures and other financial relationships between non-profit and for-profit organizations. Williams & Connolly serves as outside general counsel to a number of prominent tax-exempt organizations.

Williams & Connolly lawyers also represent individuals in tax matters, including income tax and executive compensation arrangements.
